Firemen watch as era ends

PLEASANTON — Jim Georgis is one of those men who will live to see his own story become something of a legend.

Georgis, 63, has built up a record that will not likely be matched again, simply because times change.

Georgis has been a volunteer fireman for 42 years. Pleasanton has revised its policy toward volunteers, upgraded their training and decided that — except for the present six volunteers, including Georgis' son, Leigh — none will work more than 10 years.

Nor will anyone be permitted to fight fires as a volunteer after he has become 45 years old.

Capt. Bert Cherry, acting head of the public safety department's fire division, noted that "the whole job has become more complex" than it was in the days when local farmers pitched in to buy a truck and set up a make-shift fire squad.

New building materials and the chemicals used in furniture or shipped by train have made fire fighting a job for pros.

While the city is still intent upon retaining its volunteers, their training will be intensified to 12 hours a month instead of six.

And for the first time, prospective volunteers will be given written exams, oral interviews and a physical agility test.

All those requirements could amaze some of the oldtimers.

"I tell you we had fires in those days," said Georgis, reminiscing. "But the way they fight fires nowadays could drive you to drink."

Cherry, however, doesn't believe that the division will find itself with a dearth of volunteers. On the contrary, some 300 persons applied this year for three paid firefighter openings.

Since so many want to be firemen, Cherry reasons, it shouldn't be hard to attract volunteers with a new training program that actually certifies them at the same level as first-year, paid firemen.

"What better credentials could they have?" said Cherry of volunteers who want to be eventually hired as firemen. It was much different in the old days.

"When the constable rang the bell, you'd call the telephone office," Georgis recounts. "The chief operator would tell you where the fire was."

"When the whistle blew it didn't matter what time it was, I threw my apron off (he worked in a creamery) and ran. 'All the bosses were like that. They'd just let their workers go to fight the fire.'"

Georgis, Tom Nerton and Bob Koopmann plan to retire from volunteer fire fighting. But Georgis says he will miss it.

"I'll probably run over there to see where the fire is" when the sirens sound, he said.

His wife likes to remember the social events, the parties that were so much a part of the old volunteer days that one New Year's Eve a building burned down across the street from the fire station.

"But I realize that times change," she said.

"Having served under five chiefs, it was the best thing I ever did," says Georgis. "I enjoyed every bit of it and was lucky not to get hurt, although I passed out twice from smoke inhalation." Says Mrs. Georgis: "Paid full-time firemen with a backup of 15 volunteers should be a taxpayer's dream!"

Today the volunteer reserves stands at six, dwindled by retirement and a recent dispute over the loss of the $7.50 per-call fee that volunteers were paid until last spring.

But Cherry said the volunteers will soon grow by eight members and will, as he sees it, always be an important part of the department.

Paid firemen were hired just 10 years ago. Until then fire fighting was done entirely by volunteers.

Georgis remembers when, in 1935, it cost Pleasanton less than $100 for its fire protection.

The effort was organized back in 1888 with 20 volunteers, a couple of hose carts and twenty leather buckets.

Jim Georgis

The first fire engine was purchased in 1917, but the "first great improvement in fire apparatus" didn't come until 1937, according to an annual report prepared by the fire division.

That's when a triple combination pumper with a 275-gallon water tank was purchased for volunteers.

The fire division has since escalated to about 25 men and three fire stations, made possible by a bond issue passed in 1967.

But because of the city's limited finances, Cherry believes that Pleasanton residents will lean upon the fire fighting capabilities of volunteers for many years to come.

But city must show cause

Court lifts sewer order

Alameda County Superior Court Judge Robert Bostick lifted a 24-hour temporary restraining order prohibiting the City of Pleasanton from issuing any sewer permits, but he also asked Pleasanton to show cause why Drs. Edward Schlies and Donald Clemetson should not be granted a sewer connection.

Schlies and Clemetson operate a medical building at the corner of Santa Rita and Mohr Roads in Pleasanton and are presently using a holding tank for their sewage.

In a suit with three separate $225,000 damage claims, the two medical men claimed that Pleasanton had switched them from the Sunol Service District to the Valley Community Services' District area of Pleasanton sewage treatment, and thus deprived them of sewer connections.

Although the two claim that they were originally in the Sunol Boulevard plant service area, Pleasanton City Attorney Ken Scheidig responded that prior to 1972 — when Schlies and Clemetson claim the switch was made — no areas of the city were designated for service from any specific plant.

The medical building requires 11.44 dwelling unit equivalents (DUEs), and since the Sunol plant only has 5.7 DUEs available, Bostick lifted the temporary restraining order.

However, he also issued a writ of mandate requiring Pleasanton to show cause why the medical building should not get sewer service. The hearing date on that writ is Nov. 12 at 9 a.m. in Department 18 of the Alameda County Superior Court.

Attorney Alan Grossman has named H.C. Elliot Company as one of the defendants in the third part of the suit claiming "conversion," and asking $225,000. (Conversion is basically the taking of a service — in this case, sewer connections — from someone to whom they belong.)

Another $225,000 is asked in damages resulting from an alleged conspiracy between Morrison Homes, Pleasanton and VCSD that allowed Morrison Homes to have 103 connections to the Sunol plant for a development next door to the medical building. The doctors can't get connections to the Sunol plant even if 11.44 are available, for the city says they are in the VCSD part of the Pleasanton sewage service area.

The final $225,000 is claimed against Ditz-Crane, Amador Valley Investors and the Singer Housing Company, who were supposed to represent all those unlisted in the 1972 settlement agreement between VCSD and Pleasanton.

The suit claims that those three groups managed to get high sewer connection priorities while the unlisted people all got low priorities.

Church group acts

Historic site is threatened

The Preservation of Pleasanton's historic United Presbyterian Community Church is the goal of a newly formed citizens group called "Friends of the Church."

Members of the church, as well as other concerned Pleasanton residents, are actively working to preserve the 100-year-old church building on its historic site.

Joan Stevens, chairwoman, said Friends of the Church urge all church members to attend a meeting regarding the proposed relocation Sunday after the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services.

The building committee will present new information regarding costs of moving the church. "A better decision will result if there is a well informed congregation," said Mrs. Stevens.

Friends of the Church will provide transportation to the meeting for any church member who needs it and calls 462-3281.

Members of the Pleasanton National Bicentennial Committee have forwarded a letter to the members of the church advising them that the Presbyterian Church at its present location, has been chosen as a National Historical Site.

On June 15, the congregation of the church voted to move the church from its present site to Mirador Drive in Pleasanton.

A study by the building committee of the cost of moving, and whether the church can be relocated without damage, will likely be available next month.

Garbage rate hike in effect

PLEASANTON — A 26 percent increase in garbage pick-up rates went into effect Thursday.

The increase, approved last month by city council to offset the cost of a temporary transfer station, was delayed until a permit for the station could be obtained by the Pleasanton Garbage Service.

The garbage service obtained the building permit

Wednesday evening.

Councilmen chose to hold the increase in abeyance until a permit was issued because a rate hike was granted the Pleasanton Garbage Service last year for a transfer station, but none was built.

The increase means the cost of pickup for one can will increase 64 cents, from $2.45 to $3.09. The two-can rate will go from $3.90 to $4.91.

The cost of a loose yard container will climb from $2.75 to $3.47, and the minimum dump charge will go from 50 cents to 65.

Councilmen, Sept. 22, considered a proposal by Mayor Pro Tem Bill Herlihy to raise the dump fee to $1 for cars and $2 for station wagons or pickup trucks.

Teacher killed in 580 crash

PLEASANTON — Harvest Park Intermediate School students, faculty and parents are planning memorial observances in honor of the Rev. James Dennis Leisure, 31-year-old teacher killed Wednesday in a freeway accident.

All student activities, including a dance and pep rally both planned for today, have been canceled and the student stores have been closed.

The young teacher had been on the Harvest Park staff three years. He taught science and math and this year was starting a drama class.

Born in San Diego, he was a member and minister of the United Presbyterian Church and belonged to Trinity Lutheran Church. He was also a member of the Alameda Little Theatre, Inc. and Altarena Playhouse. He lived at 2120 Pacific Ave., Alameda.

Recently married, his survivors include his wife, Mindy; his parents, James C. and Emma B. Leisure of El Cajon; a brother, David of Los Angeles; and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Desiderio Baldelli and James R. Le-sure, all of San Diego.

The accident occurred at about 2:30 p.m. Wednesday as the Rev. Leisure was headed homeward on Interstate 580. According to the California Highway Patrol, his 1974 Datsun hit a guardrail directly under the Interstate 680 overpass, bounced into two lanes of traffic, and was hit from behind by a 1975 Chevrolet. The other driver was unhurt. The teacher was dead on arrival at Valley Memorial Hospital. The accident is being investigated to determine what made the car leave the freeway and hit the guardrail.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow at

Dennis Leisure

Trinity Lutheran Church, 1323 Central Ave., Alameda. Friends may call at the Murphy-Greer Mortuary, 1421 High St., Alameda, until 9:30 a.m. Saturday. Private inurnment will follow.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Dennis Leisure Scholarship Fund of Fletcher Hills Presbyterian Church, 455 Church Way, El Cajon, CA., 92020.

Road's future uncertain

Firm delayed by El Charro

Alameda County Bureau HAYWARD — A Rhodes-Jamieson Gravel Co. request for permission to construct "corporate office headquarters" on Stanley Boulevard and El Charro Road was continued Wednesday when Alameda County Zoning Administrators requested "more precise information" on the future alignment of El Charro Road.

Rhodes-Jamieson requested a conditional use permit to build its headquarters in a light industrial district at 1645

Stanley Blvd, but zoning administrators said they wanted to continue the matter to make sure "any future extension of El Charro Road doesn't go through a building or parking lot."

The non-extension of El Charro Road from the federally financed interchange at I-580 has caused a flap in the valley since it was revealed by The Times that Alameda County has no plans to build a public road linking El Charro and Stanley Boulevard.

The interchange is used now almost exclusively by two gravel firms and their clients.

Alameda County agreed six years ago when the interchange was being considered to act immediately to provide "public access" via a rebuilt and widened El Charro Road, but to date only preliminary plans drawn up in 1969 have been even considered.

The zoning administration's move raises the spectre of new plans being considered.

In other matters, zoning administrators approved a request submitted by Gene Macedo for a conditional use permit for a 60-day temporary fruit stand at 1000 Vasco Rd.

The request for a conditional use permit to occupy a mobile home at 5860 Tassajara Rd. as a temporary use for farm workers was withdrawn by attorneys for Margorie Ruth Koller.

An application for a variance to approve a building site with reduced frontage on Happy Valley Road was continued at the request of attorneys for C. A. Harris and Ken Hart.

The administration approved a variance for a building site at 7505 Lavender Ave. Applicant Raymond T. Lewis wants to use the lot without frontage on a county road zoned a light industrial district.

The zoning administrator will meet again Wednesday, Sept. 17, at the county public works building, 399 Elmhurst St., Hayward.

Tennis club to open in early October

PLEASANTON — It's official, and it's up in lights. The city now has its own indoor version of the country club, but instead of golf, the theme is tennis.

Promoters say the private club, to be located in a former warehouse at the intersection of Interstates 580 and 680, has been well received and that a number of the 1,000 memberships have been sold.

The club will open the first week in October with 10 courts. Another 11 will be added later.

Greg Jasonides, whose title will be "head tennis professional" and who already works in an office set up in the huge, empty warehouse, said he does not know when the club's facilities will be completed.

But it will eventually have — in addition to the 21 tennis courts — locker rooms, an exercise room, a child-care center and handball, racquet ball and squash courts.

Pietro Denevi and Anthony Martino, who operate a similar club in San Carlos, Wednesday were granted a permit to operate their Tennis Town here.

But they must provide 125 parking spaces, improve the driveways around the building and keep the area north of the building free of weeds.

Denevi told planning commissioners he also plans to build 10 outdoor courts and an outdoor pool, although those must be approved by another permit.

Membership dues will be $25 per month for individuals, $40 for couple and $5 for each dependent under 21 years of age.

"We're delighted to see Tennis Town because it will help us alleviate some of the crowding on our courts," said city Recreation Coordinator Ann Carroll.

"We have needed more courts for a long time." The city has 17 courts, three of them installed just last year at Amador High School.

In addition, the Alameda County Fair Board has plans to install four indoor, public courts in the Young California building.

And Castlewood entrepreneur John Marshall has announced plans for a 21-court complex at the corner of Foothill Road and Castlewood Drive.

Marshall's wife, Edith, said Thursday that the approval of Tennis Town by planning commissioners has not altered Marshall's plans.

She said more details about the complex would be announced in a few weeks.

Tennis Town operators expect to have use of this huge sign by Interstates 580 and 680 for the next year.

Bicentennial quarter: Drummer replaces eagle

Bicentennial quarters circulate

Those shiny new quarters with a Revolutionary War drummer on the back may be a novelty, but they're really not worth anything more than the old quarter with the eagle.

Bob Schneider of Bob's Coins in Livermore says that the new quarters are exactly the same copper-nickel alloy as the old ones. "They're making a bundle of them," he reports, and thus their value as collector's items is limited.

The quarter joins the bicentennial half dollar and dollar in general circulation and will be minted through 1976.

The coin bears the dates "1776-1976" on the front rather than the more usual single date and the drummer is joined by a torch and the motto "e pluribus unum" on the back.

Serious coin collectors don't fool around with the general circulation copper-nickel coins — they buy "proof" and "uncirculated" sets from the various mints or coin shops.

City sues construction firm

Alameda County Bureau OAKLAND — The City of Livermore last week filed an $8,300 suit against a local construction company claiming the firm damaged 63 trees on the city's golf course property while working on the cross-valley pipeline.

The suit names Granite Construction Co., 82 North Livermore Ave., 10 individual "Does," three unknown corporations and an unknown "political subdivision," and alleges they were "negligently responsible" when piling excavated dirt around the trees and caused "severe and mortal damage."

The city claims the work crew was excavating on a 10-foot wide Zone 7 easement on the golf course in the summer of 1974, and that Livermore, by prior agreement with Zone 7, cleared the city's trees from the right-of-way.

Working as an "independent contractor" for Zone 7, the company stored excavated dirt in piles around the trees "outside the limits of the 10-foot easement," the suit continues.

The trees had to be removed and stored and thus were damaged, the suit concludes.

The city is requesting $8,300 for the trees and $2,000 in expenses for planting and maintaining replacements "until they are established."

This week's recipe features lamb shanks and is a great crowd-pleaser:

LAMB SHANKS SPECIAL

Have butcher split 10 lamb shanks for faster cooking. Dredge shanks in flour, salt, pepper, garlic salt, a little thyme and sweet basil. Brown in Crisco or oil in large frying pan. Remove to roasting pan or large casserole and cover with 3 cans tomato sauce (8 oz. cans) and equal amount red wine (burgundy is good). Add 2 chopped onions and a little water. Cover and bake at 325° about 3 hours or until really tender.

Send in those recipes, people... you may get tired of my cooking! And how about hearing from some of those talented junior cooks. Let's put your recipe in my corner and share them with your neighbors in the valley.

Beauty and beast

Can a local Beautification Committee find happiness with the nation's largest oil company, with the help of a subdivider's billboards?

You would have been pierced with a Sierra lance for making such a suggestion, just a few environmental months ago. And to advance such an idea in Livermore? ...NEVER!!

Well, hardly never. But the Livermore Beautification Committee has determined that a small vacant parcel at the corner of Murrieta and Portola can be developed to park use by leasing that land from Exxon Corporation for $1200 a year; and by allowing Sunset Homes Inc. to display its billboards on that same lot, at a rent of $100 per month, the whole thing comes out even-Stephen, as they say.

It is a commendable arrangement under the best of circumstances. But given Livermore's on-going mood on growth, and other evils, this particular triumvirate is downright amazing.

We are reminded that the same Livermore Beautification Committee recently considered a plan to develop both offstreet parking and planting within another small downtown parcel. Are these people crazy??

Or are they just sensible community servants, trying to make the best of two worlds ... beauty and progress. Let us hasten to record their names. They could make excellent city council material, but not until the rest of us are ready to accept the logic that a community's environment can indeed be enhanced by working closely with our corporate neighbors.

Curbing the trucks

Those who argue that "You can't fight City Hall, or the gravel industry," are hopefully making note of the events of recent weeks and months. From the day that a small group of valley citizens decided to challenge the "solid waste fill plan" submitted by the world-wide Kaiser Industries, and thereby convincing that industrial giant to greatly modify its plans, it has been evident that little people and small towns can indeed make ripples.

In the several weeks since this newspaper "revived" the odiferous "El Charro Road Interchange scandal," there has been a great deal of interest, and response. We thought a brief progress report might be in order.

It was on August 20 that The Times reminded its readers that commitments made by governmental agencies as long as ten years ago, for a public road system completed in part six years ago, was still "reserved to the exclusive use and private profit" of just two gravel firms and their clients. We continued to dig into that story, sharing our material with valley governmental bodies and even the one other valley newspaper (The Independent) which expressed interest in the affair.

To date, the "question of the gravel trucks" has prompted Pleasanton city council to launch its own protest;

The Congress of Valley Agencies (COVA) has placed the matter on its agenda for study and possible action;

At least one top state official has agreed to "look into this thing" and we are now making contact with federal authority to advise them of apparent mis-use of national highway funds.

Even the gravel industry has responded to our headlines, indicating their interest to "resolve this whole thing somehow." About the only one we haven't heard from is the County of Alameda, which sort of started this whole sad affair. But we will keep plugging, and we will keep you posted.

The Federalist Papers

Continuing the bicentennial comparisons between 18th and 20th century comment on The Federalist Papers the League of Women Voters turns to the federal legislature. How wise are complaints about the inability of Congress to act quickly?

"In the legislature, promptitude of decision is oftener an evil than a benefit. The differences of opinion, and the jarring of parties in that department of the government, though they may sometimes obstruct salutary plans, yet often promote deliberation and circumspection, and serve to check excesses in the majority," Federalist No. 70.

"Conflict between parties and between philosophies is not only normal but necessary. In a free society, politics is the means by which problems and ideals are articulated, disagreements expressed, and decisions worked out. Those who expect harmony or unity to prevail in Washington are expecting what political democracy cannot — and, indeed, should not — provide. As long as the great conversation of self-government stays within the bounds of civility and decisions are reached within a reasonable time, the nation can well afford the din and clash of angry debate and even some self-interested partisanship," New York Times, January 12, 1975.

Among reforms being called for today are four-year terms for the House, in order to give congressmen more time for governing. The Federalist makes a case for the shorter term: "As it is essential to liberty that the government in general should have a common interest with the people, so it is particularly essential that the branch of it under consideration should have an immediate dependence on, and an intimate sympathy with, the people. Frequent elections are unquestionably the only policy by which this dependence and sympathy can be effectually secured," Federalist No. 52.

The Federalist argues for a "Well-constructed Senate: 'Such an institution may be sometimes necessary as a defense to the people against their own temporary errors and delusions ... there are particular moments in public affairs when the people, stimulated by some irregular passion, or some illicit advantage, or misled by the artful misrepresentations of interested men, may call for measures which they themselves will afterwards be the most ready to lament and condemn. In these critical moments, how salutary will be the interference of some temperate and respectable body of citizens, in order to check the misguided career and to suspend the blow meditated by the people against themselves, until reason, justice and truth can regain their authority over the public mind?'"

Has the Congress shown itself to be that "temperate and respectable body of citizens," with the ability to "interfere" for the good of all?

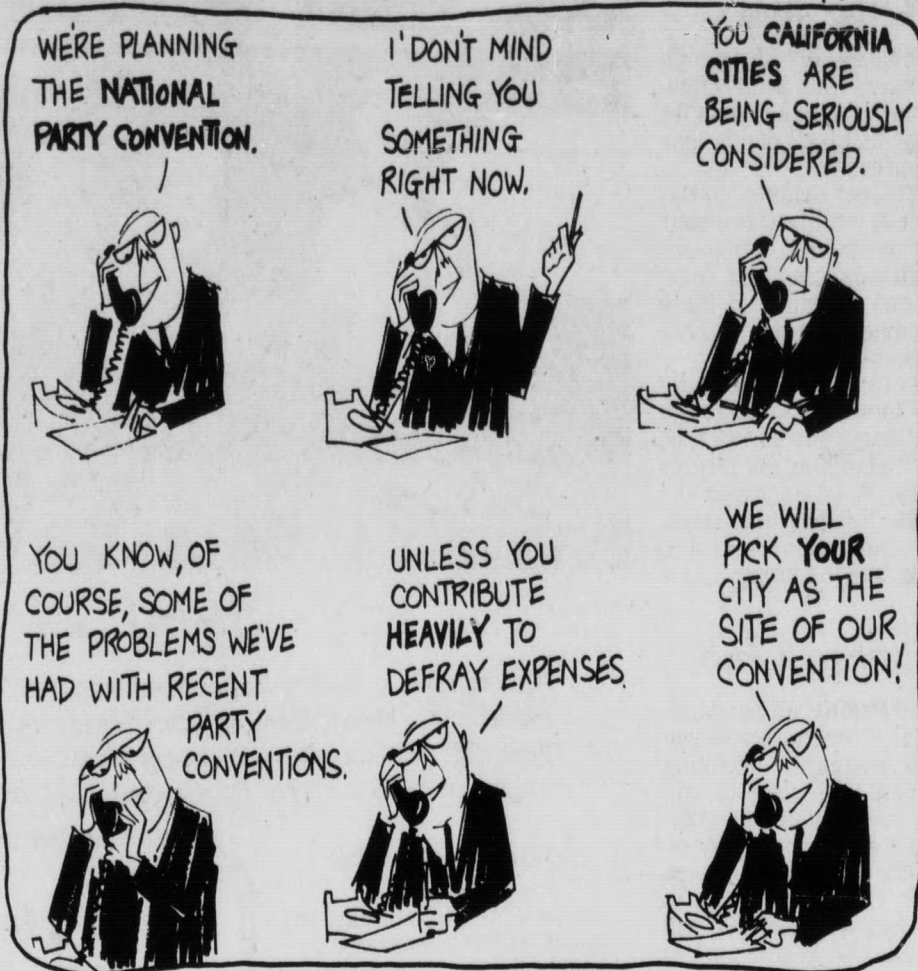

Do representatives in fact represent the people, or do they represent special interests?

Has the transfer of power from the Congress to the executive branch through emergency powers, grants of authority and rule-making powers been inevitable? Does the structure of Congress need to be changed in order to have it become an equal branch of government again?

Do the Senate and House still have distinctly different roles, or are they now so similar as to be expensively redundant?

Share your 20th-century thoughts with the League of Women Voters, 455-0800.

Letters to the editor

Conaway benefit

Editor, The Times:
On behalf of the Jon Conaway family and the Livermore Jaycees I would like to express a resounding THANK YOU to each and every man, woman and child, who helped in making the Jon Conaway Jr. benefit drive the huge success that it was.

The response of this community ... goes a long way towards proving that current day feeling that "nobody cares."

Our only hope now is that all of the hard work that went into this project to raise nearly $13,000 will help Jon on his way to full and speedy recovery.

It would be foolish to try and recognize all of the individuals, groups or merchants by name since I would certainly forget someone. However, those individuals and groups know who they are and know how the Jaycees are.

The response from all but two of the local professional teams was super with the Golden State Warriors, San Francisco Giants and San Jose Earthquakes all sending representatives as well as items to be auctioned.

Reggie Jackson, contacted through a personal friend did send a signed baseball, a signed photo and a pair of shoes, all of which brought a good price but the A's themselves sent nothing. ... praise must go to KFRC's Dr. Don Rose, who ran the auction to the tune of $3,200 and George Foreman, who sold the gloves he wore against Joe "King" Roman in Japan for $1,800.

Girls in soccer

Editor, The Times:

Unfortunately David & Jo Ann Love do not know what they are doing concerning their daughter Amy or the thousands of other girls registered with C.Y.S.A., in the girls soccer division. If they force the hand of C.Y.S.A. they will have destroyed all of girls soccer.

If anyone should feel discriminated against it should be the thousands of boys who play house league soccer and don't have the opportunities that the girls have with the tournaments that are offered to them such as the Livermore Invitational, Santa Rosa Inv., etc. If the girls and boys were to all play together this would all be eliminated.

I do not speak as a non-aware parent. I am speaking as a coach of a girls' team and a past assistant coach.

My family has been around soccer in the valley for sometime. My husband has coached five boys teams and three girls teams. He has also sat on the D.U.S.L. board for two years.

There is only one difference between girls and boys soccer rules in comparison to Girls Softball vs. Little League which I understand that Amy played, and that rule is that maturing girls may put their hands in front of their chest to protect themselves.

The program with the girls & boys separated has been a superb success for the past several years and girls' soccer keeps growing. If because of a naive couple who has just moved into the area this comes to pass, my daughter who has played for the past four years, says she personally does not care to play. She has three brothers who play.

The end result is the small minority of girls will be able to go out and compete with the boys but the vast majority of the girls will be penalized.

We in the valley have come so far with girls' sports and now we are losing so much.

Mr. & Mrs. Love, do you realized not only what you are doing to your daughter but the thousands of other girls who just want to play soccer?

Airport mystery

Editor, The Times:

The Parness letter published in the Herald 8-13-75 would be laughable if it wasn't so tragic. With all the business that he claims for it since the airport was opened, why should there have been so many yearly deficits reported in that operation? If it had been self-sustaining, then why would these deficits occur?

His exaggerating fantasy of 200,000 yearly operations at the airport may sound as big stuff but the payoff is in the profits made. Two hundred thousand freeloaders wouldn't help a bit. It's the tangle of the $$$ in the cash register that tells whether business is succeeding or not. The 225 daily operations claimed would make only $2,125 yearly.

Parness states that, "Funds for the entire facility were derived from the sale of the old airport property." Then he tells us the Federal Government pays 54%. That land, plus the old sewer farmland, brought in only $1,525,100, which was $210,900 short of the airport land cost of $1.1 million, and navigational costs of $636,000. If we paid the entire facility cost, there would have been no need for the government to dish up the $937,440. Besides, the new sewer plant had to be paid for, too. The old sewer farmland accounted for $205,552.68 of the total. The new one cost several million, plus upgrading and expansion. It never has fulfilled the promised expectations.

Another pertinent question is, if the Federal government furnishes 54% of construction and improvements cost, where does the 46% come from if it isn't local public funds? Don't forget that Federal or State funds all must come from public sources.

A letter, 8-2-62, received from the FAA shows that they refused to participate in relocating the airport and they turned it down. Then, on 11-5-62, it shows that 152 acres of the land had been sold at $4,000 per acre, $608,000. Someone should start searching the old records. Perhaps the officials wouldn't want the contexts known.

Round the town

How does your garden grow? Or, to recall a different title from the pages of the past, "How Green is YOUR Valley?"

Our Valley is as green, or golden, as the California climes allow, thank you. The verdant splashes seen here and there about the vale are the work of a golf course greenskeeper, or a dedicated home owner. I am in that latter category, only not earning the Better Homes and Gardens gold award this year, sad to say.

"That back lawn looks a little sorry," the lady of the house advises.

"Not near as sorry as I am," is my clever retort. "I am sorry I ever planted the blessed thing. All that labor, all that water, and now I am harvesting a weekly crop of Bermuda grass."

Two years ago, it was just a touch, here and there. Today the entire lawn is one great expanse of Bermuda green. Comes winter and it will be Bermuda brown. Hibernating for the season. Gone to lunch, at the Italian Underground.

"I think the birds bring it in," she advises, which is no comfort whatsoever. Not to a dedicated floriculturist like myself. (Or is it horticulturist? I always get them confused.)

Much of our gardening effort is a welter of confusion. Plant and pray. Pick up a few bright golden goodies at Safeway along with the bacon and the Tide. Line up those little plastic containers along the patio like soldiers prepared to do battle with nature, and the snails. It is never a fair fight.

"If you plant these here in the shade and those over there in the sunshine, they should all do well." She is the eternal optimist, or else she knows even less about her husband than she cares to admit, after all these years.

"Didn't we just plant a bunch of these same things last month, and with disastrous results?" I ask. "Seems to me Safeway should guarantee this stuff, or paste on something like — 'Warning — not to be used by small children, idiots or husbands.' This is getting tiresome, and expensive."

"Stop trying to be funny, and start digging," she says. It is the classic end to our confrontation. Another victory for wifely lib.

In England there is a rebirth of the "Victory Garden." Those backyard spreads of cucumber and carrot helped win the war, or so we are advised. England is locked in a different kind of battle for survival these days. Vegetable gardens are the Englishman's answer to economic blight. "Plant the succotash and God Save the Queen!" But there is no evidence that Her Highness is plowing up the grounds at Buckingham Palace, as her mother did during WWII.

In our little palace the Queen doesn't have to plant. She just gives the orders. Her vassal does the dirty work.

"You're planting those petunias too deep," the voice says. "And too far apart." I want to suggest what she can do with her petunias, and her advice, but marital harmony dictates otherwise.

I am not alone in this struggle. Fellow male prisoners get me word, now and then, of their own penal servitude.

Even when the garden produces, a man's burden does not end. Al Casterson is blessed with a great bounty of zucchini squash. It has just about destroyed him, and his neighborhood.

Al and Bertha and friends have been whipping the zucchini into dishes of vegetable, as the base for bread, cookies, relish and even pickles. But still the stuff prevails.

Black Avenue is awash in squash. Friends of long standing are known to pull the blinds and lock the doors when they see Al coming. "I think he's bringing us another load of zucchini squash!" It is a cry to send an entire household into fear and trembling.

Few years back, a plum tree in our yard decided to give birth to a tremendous family of little plums. Our initial reaction was pure joy.

"Thought I was the dum-dum gardener of all time, eh? Well just look at that beautiful crop of plums," I declared.

As the days passed, and the crop grew, our joy became somewhat muted. Plums poured forth with all the eagerness of rabbits. We filled buckets, we filled bags, we were even working on the bath tub when the lady of the house got an inspiration.

"Start filling up those empty ice cream cartons and give them to Jenny Lynn to take around to the neighbors." The little girl next door was a willing, if unknowing, courier, and we were soon moving cartons of plums with factory-line precision up and down the block. But even that outlet had to end.

"The Robey's gave me a cookie, but they told me to bring back the plums," she reported.

Thus, as with Al Casterson's squash, we found ourselves loaded with plums, but suddenly very short on friends. One prolific tree almost destroyed our social life. I did the only thing a reasonable man could do under the circumstance.

I cut down the blessed tree.

"It was messing up the patio and the dog, anyway," I explained, taking another whack.

"I agree," she said, "but you've been so proud of that tree. It was the one thing you planted that was really producing."

"I didn't really plant it," I confessed. "Suspect a bird brought in the seed years back, the thing just took off on its own." Only God, and birds, can make a tree.

—by John Edmands

"At fifteen he's got a right to be happy," he commented. "And fat. After all, he's not playing football."

"At that weight he could play tackle for the Oakland Raiders," I observed.

"The Washington Redskins," Pat corrected. "The Raiders like 'em young." "The Redskins win," Tom countered. A comment which set off another lively discussion and some mild slander involving the San Francisco 49ers, who crept into the conversation via the back door.

Eventually Burke Critchfield entered the shop and took a seat beside the magazine rack. Not the chipper Critchfield I know. He had come to the establishment to relax.

Pat had basked in the light of his hero. Benedix had many satellites, not the least of whom was Norm Volponi, the man under whom Pat apprenticed who now owns an L Street pool hall. (Excuse me, Norm I mean family billiard parlor.) "How could a newspaperman in this town call him a truck driver?" Brosnan demanded.

Of course it was easy for the fellow in question. And truck driver is not so bad. I have been called worse things and often by much more important people.

Anyway, a man gets what he pays for. A laddie should remember that when he is purchasing a newspaper.

Sound and Fury

Walt Hecox

Four bucks is a lot to pay for the same thing I used to get for four bits at Web Hamlet's Barber Shop and pin-oche parlor back in the days of yore when I was attending Fremont High School and standing my cordorouy trousers up in the corner of that bedroom on Cupertino's Blaney Avenue each night.

At those rates a man must get a little something extra for his money which is why I attend Mr pat Brosnan's (spell it B R O S N A N) sports seminar and manure dispensing establishment in Livermore whenever it is time for my quarterly shearing.

I don't know whether or not Pat is the best barber in the world, but he talks more than most of them and some of the conversation is interesting.

Whether he likes the chatter or not a man cannot avoid it in that strange tonsorial establishment at 2080 First Street. I have a can of aerosol spray on my desk designed to repel the type of conversation I get at Pat's place, but I always forget to bring it along when I am about to lose my locks.

Brosnan was fuming when I arrived. The former, and strictly styled, publicity man for five time World Wrist Wrestling Champion Tiny Benedix had a right to be angry.

His hero had been maligned in print, not the highly reliable pages of the Valley Times, but in the questionable and often erring columns of the Livermore branch of the Hayward Daily Review.

"Did you see what that (at this point a long, depictive, vehement and spectacularly chatoyant string of expletives deleted) had in his column last Sunday?" the chauvinist shearer inquired. (All patrons at Pat's place are male chauvinist pigs out of necessity. Excepting, of course, Don Miller and the rest of the Livermore City Council.)

"I never read the Squire's canary cage carpet," I replied, referring, of course, to the Squire of Winton Avenue, a Hayward back street noted principally for the Alameda County southern administration buildings and a somewhat dangerous railroad crossing.

"I look at the headlines and call my reporter's attention to the rare occasions when they carry a story of worthwhile content which we have overlooked."

"You're lucky," Brosnan informed me. "I don't know exactly what he was talking about, but at one stage of the game he referred to 'Tiny Benedix, a Livermore truck driver who once won the World's Wrist Wrestling Champion' or words to that effect. Brosnan did not appreciate the slur on the character of his buddy of old who held the World's Wrist Wrestling championship four times and the pacific Coast title once.

On top of that, Benedix is an electrician, a trade at which he is skilled and has practiced for many years.

Brosnan was thoroughly put out by the inaccuracy and I was impressed with his desire for true facts for a few brief moments.

He had turned his attention to Mr Charles Finley's Oakland Athletics when my illusion was totally destroyed.

The circulation representative of the Voice of the West entered the establishment and Pat paid his bill without a murmur. So much for truth in the media.

There was a lively gathering at the tonsorial parlor. Tom Davis, erstwhile football coach at Livermore who has temporarily relieved himself of that arduous duty, dropped in leading an overweight black dog. He explained he had purchased the puppy as a gift for his mother shortly after the death of his father 15 years ago.

Tom had dropped by to chat. He made no move toward the barber chair. And after several minutes of listening to the dialogue came to a conclusion.

"I can take it fellows," he announced. "But I'm sure as hell not going to take my mother's dog into this barbershop again. If this dog tells my mother about the language you fellows are using my name will be mud."

I did not ask Tom if the dog was a lady. In this liberated age, does it matter? Brosnan had a word or two to say about the canine's state of health.

"If that dog gains two more pounds I'll have to build a bigger door so he can get through."

Davis agreed the canine was a trifle overweight.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll discover early today that being too forceful is non-productive. Fortunately, your good judgement and sense of humor will aid you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It will appear that you're getting the short end of a deal today. Don't do anything hasty. Everything will eventually even out.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Domestic pressures may be a bit trying early today. They'll pass. Don't let them rattle you. The rest of the day will be a breeze.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be willing to go a few steps further than the boss expects of you today. Later, he'll do the same for you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're lucky with just about everything today except finances, so don't do anything foolish in that area.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Good things happen if you let events run their course today. Trying to force issues will only complicate matters.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your first impulse is to look at the darker side of things today. After a hard second look you'll see you have much to be grateful for.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're under very good financial aspects now, but be careful not to earmark what's coming in for some extravagant whim.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You could take unfair advantage of a situation today, but you won't. Your unselfish decision will prove to be a lucky one.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be wary today that a dominant personality doesn't force his ideas upon you. The course of action you've selected is the better one.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Enjoy yourself with friends today but don't try to mix business with pleasure. That could cause some headaches.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Lady Luck is still in your corner. She'll do all she can to help you realize your desires. Be sure you're doing all you can to help her.

Fall Fashion

MODERN WOMEN ON THE GO

SEPTEMBER
1975

Fashion Forecasts

As days grow shorter and the autumn leaves start to turn, attention focuses on the new fashion season.

This fall, the fashion news is big, beautiful and bulky. The emphasis is on free-flowing, easy-to-wear clothes you can mix and match, which make sense for today's style and budget-conscious women.

Colors are low-keyed, muted, monochromatic. Rust, grey, mauve, forest green, dark navy and a spectrum of browns will prevail the fashion scene. Prints are prevalent, but the new news is stripes, flame patterns, ombres, jacquards, intarsias and tweeds, tweeds!

Still more significant is the texture: fuzzy, cozy, cuddly. Knits are touchable and lightweight even when they are big and bulky.

Sweaters will be in the fashions for fall with a variety of colors, prints, sets and mix and match effect. You will find them in angora, mohair, chenille, boucle, single knit and double knit in wool, blends and synthetics. The new versions are constructed so they conform more to the body. This is particularly true for the lacy or metallic knits that are important part of evening clothes.

Hemlines will definitely be longer in fall fashions. Designs will turn back to the more feminine look. Pant suits will still be popular, but more women will have several dresses in their wardrobe this year than they have had in the past. Long dresses will be the most popular for evening wear with many of these coming in knits.

Coordinating will be popular over the "match" look. Coordinating results in a sophisticated, put-together look — the classic versus the helter-skelter look of the past few years. Even where the ethnic patterns influence, the effect is more controlled, more an ensemble. The matching skirt and jacket or dress (knit or not) with a bulky knit jacket or coat are once again making news.

Skirts and sweaters for scholars

Rebecca LaVally models a paprika sweater coordinated with fall plaid skirt, both creations of J. Meyers. The new wedge shoe with multi-colors is by Passpor. Entire outfit along with other fall fashions may be seen at the Shoe Stable.

Classic coordinates

Terri Groshong maid of Livermore, fashionably wears a coordinated outfit for school scholars. Complete costume can be purchased from Bullocks along with many other "back to school" fashions.

Pat Bruce (upper left) models "You Babes" top in gauze with quilted inserts. The corduroy pants are by "Fantasia." Both are washable and may be purchased from the Double Take, Main Street, Pleasanton. Enjoy a fine lunch, lovely models and styles provided for your viewing by The Wildflower.

Beauty sleep

Don't be in the dark about beauty sleep. There is nothing like night light to keep you looking dreamy. When you are blanketed in slumber, your body and your mind can refresh and repair themselves for the next day. Sleep by itself cannot make you a starry-eyed beauty. Some eye puffiness and dark shadows or skin types and textures depend more on heredity than sleep habits. Sleep can ease many beauty problems but not chase them away completely. Your skin, however, uses your sleep time to do a little moonlighting. Skin is forever renewing itself. A lighter dinner makes sleeping easier. Exercise also helps, but not just before bedtime. Research shows persons who exercised in the late afternoons had the easiest time falling asleep at night.

Jeans a la francais

The French look for jeans has made it across the sea. This fall you will see skin-tight jeans tucked into tall sleek boots or cuffed at the top of the boots. If you really want the French look, you'll wear them unbleached. The layered look is still with us and it is just about at the stage of the ridiculous. Keep in mind when you are thinking about getting on the fashion bandwagon that unless you are built on the tall, spare lines of a model, you will probably have trouble carrying off too much of a good thing. Shawls are no longer reserved for the little old lady set. Tie one around your shoulders to dress up a turtle neck and skirt, wear one over your coat or tie it about your waist in gypsy fashion. Blazers are back. Wear one with jeans, skirts, tailored pants, or dress pants. They are available in a variety of fabrics; look for velvets and tweeds to spice up your wardrobe.

Tips on coiffures

Short hair and bangs are back, but if you hate to part with your long hair for a transient fashion, remember that clean hair, well shaped, will always win votes over just a trendy look. If your hair is lacking body, try to shampoo some in. Shampoos labeled "conditioning" or "protein" usually contain ingredients that penetrate and deposit protein on the hair cuticle. Conditioners come in different strengths and formulas. Some can be washed in and rinsed out in minutes.

Summer sweater sale

Sweaters by Rosa Lee of California are a special item at The Holiday Shoppe in Livermore. A sale of Summer Styles is now the big news at Second and South "K" for women on the go who still have a vacation to look forward to in '75.

Open door to fashion

Lee Killeaney, of Annette's in Livermore, not only indicates the 'open door to fashion' for women on the go, she also models the latest Jack Winter ensemble. Pull-on pant or skirt and matching jacket plus an attractive striped blouse make an unbeatable combination. There is also a wide selection of colorful blouses for even greater variety and flexibility.

Sweaters take top billing in fashions

Sweaters are an important part of cold-weather fashion. The new texture is homespun and natural in earth-like brown, rust, gold and beige. Styling emphasis is on shawl collars, rolled sleeves, tie belts and long silhouettes.

Fall '75 presents the sweater in its traditional form as well as in a new outerwear role competing with coats and jackets. From outside in, the sweater is extraordinarily important because it is a story in itself and it is an integral part of the layering trend.

Pile it on, layer after layer. It is the final, outer layer that really tells the fall fashion story. Blazers are still popular and quilted, Orient-influenced toppers are capturing favor, but the sweater has stolen the applause. It challenges the very existence of the coat.

Figure fitness

Many figures that became slim and trim with summer's light eating and swimming exercise begin to add on the pounds in the fall when one eats more and moves less. If you want your figure to add up, not add on, keep up your good shape with a sensible diet and plenty of exercise.

The first chilly weather really tests your dieting ability. Nature tells you to add pounds as insulation against a cold winter. Your common sense should tell you that you can put on a coat instead of an extra five pounds to keep warm. Even with your common sense giving you lecture, fall casseroles will be more appealing now than summer salads. Try to eat sensible portions and stay away from high-calorie snacks.

Control the urge to go into winter hibernation from exercise, too. Walk and run whenever you can and in the evening work on an exercise program instead of an eating project and watching television.

A great body doesn't just happen, but it may not take all the shape-up education you think. Thirty minutes of study each week might be all you need to put you on the figure honor roll. When you achieve total fitness, you win back not only muscle tone but the vitality and stamina that you should have to get through your day's activities.

Knitted toppers range from short, hip-length baseball jackets with or without zippers to the sweater version of the big top with pockets, wide sleeves and collars.

Some tops are sold as sets, but most are coordinated in groups with a selection of shapes to choose from so that one can add, subtract, mix and intertwine, creating an elaborate variety of combinations.

Vests are used to top off dresses and to layer with jackets or other sweaters. They are done in coordinated tweeds or prints and are especially designed to harmonize with the dresses or toppers. Even the classic shetland crewneck has returned allowing shirts or other sweaters to blossom out of the neck.

The classic jewel neck and turtleneck are important for day and evening. Most follow standard lines while others take on new interpretations—enlarging the sleeves to a bell or widening them and rolling them up.

Sweaters—it's a great look that can be reproduced at any price.

Bust your buns

Mike Zampa

Gary Epps was the greatest skateboarder we ever knew. When all the other kids were still too timid to shoot off the curb, he was improvising methods to climb up the curb and onto the sidewalk.

The rest of us would finally master the 360 degree turn on two wheels when Gary was making three and four revolutions. He'd keep on spinning until we wanted to vomit from just watching him.

Gary never threw up though. Well there was that time he lost the grape soda pop drinking contest at the entrance to Forest Hills Market. But that had nothing to do with skateboards. On four wheels he was supreme. And fearless. He broke an arm one afternoon by wiping out on an elevated causeway at the elementary school. They set it and put it in a cast. Next afternoon Epps showed us how to jump hurdles and land on the board as it rolled under the crossbar.

There wasn't a run that Gary wouldn't face. We wanted to raise some travel money and send him to New York to ride down the steps of the Statue of Liberty. But by then he had moved from skateboards to unicycles, and in the process gotten his picture in the Oakland Tribune.

Four wheels weren't cool anymore when you could do it on one.

But now it seems, to the profound grief of group insurance plans everywhere, that skateboards are back.

They've got these new wheels made with polyurethane or Vaseline or something that have revolutionized the sport. If you believe the promotional blat being put out by manufacturers, we can all be Gary Epps now.

Like most kinky things, the resurgence of skateboards was first charted in Southern California Kids were zipping past hurried shoppers on La Jolla's main street, and doing hand-stands around the big fountain in San Diego's Balboa Park.

Steadily, the latest outbreak of skateboard madness is pushing north. Soon the state will be crawling with polyurethane pilots of the pavement. And hospital emergency rooms will be treating fractures at a record pace.

The revival has not touched these land locked valleys yet according to the scant handful of visible riders. Perhaps proximity to salt water is a prerequisite for sidewalk surfing, though it is a steep hill, and not a crashing wave that make the wheels go round.

One intrepid rider, who requests anonymity because his parents forbid skateboards, says the cultural climate just isn't right here.

"Pleasanton is kind of a backwards town," he explains. "The people aren't with it. I've got this Aloha shirt that's really big down in L.A. now, but you where it up here and people look at you funny."

"They'd rather be cowboys and cowgirls than ride a skateboard."

Or perhaps, they just object to the inflated prices that go along with the rebirth of the craze. The latest model boards, with fiberglass bodies and urethane wheels, cost as much as $40.

They are more flexible and navigable than their predecessors, but the fibers are worn away by spills on the pavement.

You can take a wipeout and almost calculate the amount of money it cost by weighing the shredded fibers left on the street.

Though Pleasanton is not a hot bed of skateboarding, there is a cadre of riders. They congregate late at night in Pleasanton Heights, (the name explaining the desirability of the location) and careen down the darkened avenues.

Even more popular is Pleasanton Elementary School. It is laced with gently banked walkways that are almost as smooth to ride as a roller derby track.

That's where our phantom rider sneaks off every evening, or at least he did until a few days ago.

"My mom caught me the other morning," he says. "She told me to get off that blank blank thing. I knocked out my front teeth in a swimming pool once, and she says I'll knock them out for sure on a skateboard. There are two things she hates, football and skateboards."

In this latest rush to sidewalk surfing, the board appears to be the thing. There is no move afoot to revive the "surf culture" which precipitated the initial craze in the 1960's.

That's when you drove around town in a mahogany paneled station wagon with a surf board popping out the tailgate. It didn't matter that you'd never been closer to a wave than an Annette Funicello movie.

Kids wore blue denim pants that appeared to be painted right to the body, and madras shirts. They streaked their hair with tanning lotion so they'd all look like lifeguards.

But in this day, it is the esthetics of the vehicle itself that is making waves.

Manufacturers like Hob and Hang Ten are creating art treasures, at least in the eyes of their purchasers. They're even putting money-back guarantees on some models.

The new miracle wheels won't crack or chip, or split in two when you're riding straight down Mt. McKinley.

If nothing else, the resumption of sidewalk surfing will keep quite a few parents at home this winter, protecting their $10,000 holes in the ground.

Tiny Foothill's maiden trip

Tonight Foothill High will charge the football field en masse and someone in the stands will say, "Great. Now where's the defense."

It'll be there. You just might not see it.

With only 18 football players, the Falcons open their first varsity season at 8 p.m. facing Vanden High of Fairfield. God willing and if the whirlpool doesn't short-circuit, Foothill will finish the season.

Success will be relative to coach John Lupoi and his staff. For now, everyone's optimistic. "The coaching staff is 100 per cent out to win every game," Lupoi said yesterday. "The players feel that way too."

Unfortunately, the Falcons don't know whether to lace up their football shoes or go out and purchase track spikes. They've been running two miles a day to condition themselves for the long grind, Lupoi says. Six players will be going two ways. Five will play just defense. That leaves two players in reserve.

"We've been doing everything possible to insure minimum injury," claimed Lupoi. "We tape every kid before every practice, and we only hit once a week. There hasn't been one injury yet, thank God."

Foothill will open, with a big, strong offense, but not much else. Halfback Brad Cotton is a 6-0, 211 bruiser with good, 4.9 speed in the 40. Linemen Dave Ledbetter, John Ulrech and Tony Trujillo weigh-in at 205, 220 and 220.

Despite their girth, the Falcons won't attempt to slug it out with Vanden. That's too damaging on the backs, Lupoi says, and with 18 working parts, he can't afford break downs.

Vanden is coming in with one of its finest teams in years, including four swift backs, and 14 returning seniors. There are no seniors enrolled at Foothill.

Lupoi's plan is to challenge Vanden offensively, because last year on the junior varsity level, the offense hurt Foothill.

"The offense was giving us poor field position, and the defense was playing with its back against the goal line. This year we're going to throw everything at them but the kitchen sink, pro set, split backs, split receivers, everything."

"We'll be physically tough, but I expect that mistakes will hurt because we're inexperienced," Lupoi said. "Nobody's going to blow us off the map with raw strength, though."

Rich Henderson will quarterback the team, with Cotton and Craig Johnson in the backfield behind him. Rick Rosenbaum and Jeff Johnson are the sophomore wide receivers, and Scott Marshall is the tight end.

Ulrech and Trujillo will be the tackles with Ledbetter at center.

Starting guards are Mike Mather and Kevin Coin.

Defensive starters will include Mike Colvin and Brian Caruthers at linebackers, with Chas Dean, Kent Hall and Steve Tonelli in the secondary.

Opener crucial for Amador

They would have you believe that the opening of football season is an unwarranted cause for alarm, a happening unfit for hoopla and bold predictions that seldom ring true.

But for the Amador Valley Dons, the season opener this evening at Mission San Jose seems to be most telling. Both teams are capable of winning football championships. So both will serve as a gauge for the other.

The Dons and Warriors meet at 8 this evening at Tak Fudenna Stadium in Fremont.

The rest of the opening night schedule involving EBAL teams reads like this: Vanden is at Foothill (at Dublin); San Ramon faces Vintage (Napa); St. Mary's will be at Monte Vista, and Livermore will travel to Beyer (Modesto).

Tomorrow, Arroyo will play at Granada at 1 p.m. Saturday night, Dublin is at San Leandro, and California will venture to Pacifica.

Of all those teams, no one may face a bigger defensive chore than Amador. The Dons must stop a typical Mission San Jose running attack, anchored by a pair of big backs.

They are Kevin Turner, 200 pounds, and Greg Sullivan, 215.

Amador has a fairly decent passing attack," says Amador coach Fred Wood, "but it's the running that makes it effective."

Though the Warriors feature those two enormous ball carriers, Amador won't stack the deck defensively to stop them.

"We're just going to play our regular defense," Wood said yesterday. "This is a practice game for us, and we just want to get the guys ready. It's nothing special."

Nevertheless, an opening night win over the highly considered Warriors could be a stepping stone to bigger things for the Dons. Especially since they must play at least half a season without some important players.

Running back Mike Goodison is out with mononucleosis, and there's no telling when he'll be back. Defensive tackle Eric Larson is gone for a month with a fractured knee, and safety Matt Kendall will miss at least five weeks because of a shoulder injury.

Bob Koopman and Larry McNerny will open at tackles this evening on defense. The safeties will be Craig Ramos and Randy Tallarico.

The rest of the lineup will have Don Palmer and Roger Brothers at ends, with Mike Brunts at middle linebacker Ron Worley and Otto Ribary are the outside linebackers. Mike Mayes and Mike Danksa are the cornerbacks.

Five of the Dons will play on offense as well, Wood said, due to the depleted roster.

Junior John Sevo will open at quarterback, with Worley, Mayes and Ken Carney in the backfield. Carney is "strong as ever" according to Wood, following off-season knee surgery.

Jeff Aids will be the wide receiver for Amador, with Tallarico at tight end. Koopman and Ribary open at tackles, with Mark Clemmens and Glenn Hill at guards. Wood didn't name his starting center.

Livermore will have a unique opportunity this evening when it opens the season against Beyer. The Cowboys expect to unveil their option offense, but must do it against Beyer's 6-2, 260 defensive lineman, Doug Severe.

According to Livermore coach Ron Berg, he may be the finest lineman to ever play in Modesto. "He's got 21-inch arms, and they say he eats bunches of bananas at halftime," Berg smiles. "We may try to run at him a few times, but not too often."

How well the Cowboys run will depend partly on the ankle sprain suffered last week by Vince Farfan. The 160 pound halfback was on crutches Tuesday, but could be ready for duty tonight.

Whether Farfan is ready or not, Livermore will still have quarterback Rich Palmer, an excellent passer.

Bob Bradley, a 200-pound fullback who played on the line last year, will also supply offensive punch.

The big Livermore defen-

Glad to enforce honesty

HAYWARD — It's been getting around that you can cheat Chabot College. The play worked so successfully last season that the Gladiators slipped to third place in Golden Gate Conference football standings.

Beginning tomorrow night, however, when Yuba College comes in at 7:30 to open the season, Chabot will again make honest men out of the opposition.

At least that's coach Terry Cagaanan's plan.

The Gladiators will be a much improved running team, Cagaanan says, or at least they'll attempt to be. Everyone knows Chabot can pass the ball through a tornado. That's why enemy defenses have been cheating against the Glad offense. If you so you could almost ignore the run and just tee off on the quarterback.

But now, Chabot has some prime, experienced beef in the front line, and dangerous runners in the backfield to restore a ground attack. It's first test will come tomorrow against the 49'ers.

"We just didn't have much balance last year," Cagaanan admitted yesterday. "We depended too much on the pass, and it hurt us. People just began playing us to pass. So one of our objectives this year is to establish the run. We always know we have skill people to throw and catch the ball, and know we've got some people who can run it. "We'll go for a 50-50 split between run and pass, or maybe 60-40," Cagaanan said. "A lot will depend on the situation. But we want to run in every game."

The trigger for Chabot's ground offense is a big, veteran offensive line. The tackles are sophomores Bill Ackerman, 6-4, 255, and Phil Barry, 6-3, 225. Greg Goodwin, 5-11, 200 and Rei DeLafaniere, 6-0, 215 are the guards. At center will be Rob Castleman, 6-2, 190.

DeLafaniere is the only freshman in the group. But he was a high school all-star last year.

Chabot's backs are so good that last year's leading rusher, Rick Camara, has been moved over to wingback this year. Sophomore Robert Bruce, 134 yards and a 4.7 average last year, will be one of the backfield starters.

Freshman Curtis Bledsoe will be the other back.

Of course the Gladiators will again throw the ball, and Cagaanan is counting on sophomore Don Moore to be an outstanding quarterback. "He has a strong arm, and a quick release," Cagaanan said. "And he knows a lot about our offense, and about secondary coverages."

Moore hit on 34 of 75 passes last year for 475 yards and three touchdowns.

Dons, SR win in tennis

Dave Finn won his singles match over Livermore's number one player Steve Williford yesterday afternoon and his Amador Valley High School teammates followed suit for a 6-1 EBAL tennis victory.

Finn won the initial match, 6-2, 6-1, before Rick Burroughs, Ron Lapp and Mike Crow all took their singles matches.

Bern Cedarlund, in fifth singles, was the only winner for the Cowboys, taking out Doug Brannan, 6-4, 6-0.

The Dons won both doubles matches en route to a 77-34 advantage in total games.

Shutout wins by Greg Larson and Rick Reed along with a near goose-egger by Lisa bee combined with tough wins by Brad Blake and Jim Hogeboom gave San Ramon an easy 6-1 win over Dublin.

In EBAL non-action, Foothill forfeited to Granada.

SF goes against Pack in exhibition wrap-up

Dick Nolan's San Francisco 49ers, buoyed by a 44-10 wallop of the Denver Broncos, attempt to keep the momentum going Saturday night in their final pre-season game at Green Bay.

Both clubs carry 2-3 records into the 15th annual Bishop Charities Game, which has raised $867,000 over the last 14 years and the Catholic Diocese of Green Bay expects to net $70,000 from this one.

The 49ers, however, are interested in other statistics, such as rushing, passing, and scoring.

It is vital that the Niners leave the exhibition campaign on a winning note since their first two league games are against Super Bowl contenders Minnesota and Los Angeles.

Kickoff is 6 p.m. PDT. There will be no television but the contest will be carried on KSFO radio.

The 49ers reversed a three-game losing streak in handling Denver with ease. The offense rallied for 391 total yards, 185 via the ground and 206 by passing.

The defense held the incomparable Otis Armstrong and his teammates to a mere 193 yards. Denver signal callers were sacked five times.

Norm Snead, the 16-year pro veteran, pitched a pair of TD passes as did backup QB Steve Spurrier.

Bullet Bob Hayes, the ex-Dallas Cowboy who is enjoying life in a San Francisco uniform, gathered in both of Snead's TD throws.

Wilbur Jackson, second-year man from Alabama, rushed for 60 yards in 16 carries and fifth-year man Larry Schreiber had 45 in 10 packs.

On defense, end Cedrick Hardman came up with three sacks and left side linebacker Skip Vanderbundt, who has replaced retired Dave Wilcox, intercepted two passes and ran one of them back for a 9-yard TD.

Defensive Ralph McGill of the Niners and linebacker Dale Mitchell came up with minor injuries and will likely miss Saturday's contest.

Wide receiver Gene Washington and cornerback Jimmy Johnson will return however. So will linebacker Willie Harper.

Green Bay, coached by one of the most famed names in Packer football history, Bart Starr, has lost three in a row. The Pack is counting on a victory over the 49ers to provide them with a successful springboard into the regular campaign.

After taking a 31-3 drubbing from Kansas City last week, Starr opined, "There's a lesson in this. And that's that you can't afford to spot a team all those points in the first quarter and expect to come back.

"Even good teams have trouble doing that, solid teams that have been together for awhile. We don't have the kind of team strength to give up a 21-point lead at this stage."

Willard Harrell, a rookie from University of the Pacific, leads the Packer ground game with 122 yards in 33 carries. Big John Brockington has rushed for 91 yards in 35 packs.

Veteran NFL quarterback John Hadl has completed 42 of 84 passes for 408 yards and a pair of touchdowns. He is backed by Jerry Tagge and Jack Concannon.

Granada beats Clan harriers

Granada High School opened its cross-country season yesterday afternoon with a 24-31 non-league win over the visiting Piedmont Highlanders.

The Clan's Drew Harbough took first place in the varsity race with a sparkling 15:35 over the 2.7 mile Granada course. His time was just nine seconds off the record set by San Ramon's Roy Kissin last fall.

Jeff Cowling was the first Matador to cross the finish line with a time of 16:23. Scott Kusko was third in 16:23, and Jeff Winkler fifth in 17:04 for the Mats while Piedmont's Mike O'Brien was fourth in 16:54.

Granada, unable to field the necessary five runners in either division, forfeited both the junior varsity and frosh-soph team scoring. The Clan performed a similar feat on the girls level.

Bruce Boer of Granada had the best individual time in the JV division (10:25) and teammate Bob Hicks had a 10:26 over the shorter 1.7 mile course to win the frosh-soph race.

The Mats made it three out of four individual triumphs as Kathy Lyons took the girls in 11:43.

ROGER SHAHEEN, owner and developer of the "Shaheen Industrial Park" Livermore feels this is the time to begin his Livermore development. Construction has already begun to widen I-580 making Livermore more accessible to the Bay Area.

Seen above at the official ground-breaking (from left) are Shaheen, Earl Mason, Terri Groshong, John Stalee and Helen Tirsell. The park has a total of 25 acres with more land available for expansion. Plans are underway to develop a 30,000 sq. ft. concrete tilt-up building which will be available for lease to users from 2,500 sq. ft. and up. Shaheen has developed projects in Oakland, San Leandro, Union City and Livermore leasing to tenants like Westinghouse Air Brake Corporation, Coca-Cola Bottling Corporation, Miles Laboratories and Armo Steel.

RECYCLED JEANS are the latest in proper attire according to Joe and Anne Marver pictured below. They have opened THE JEANERY (Behind Agnew Realty) at 158 South J Street in Livermore and they're going to have some 'Grand Opening' specials.

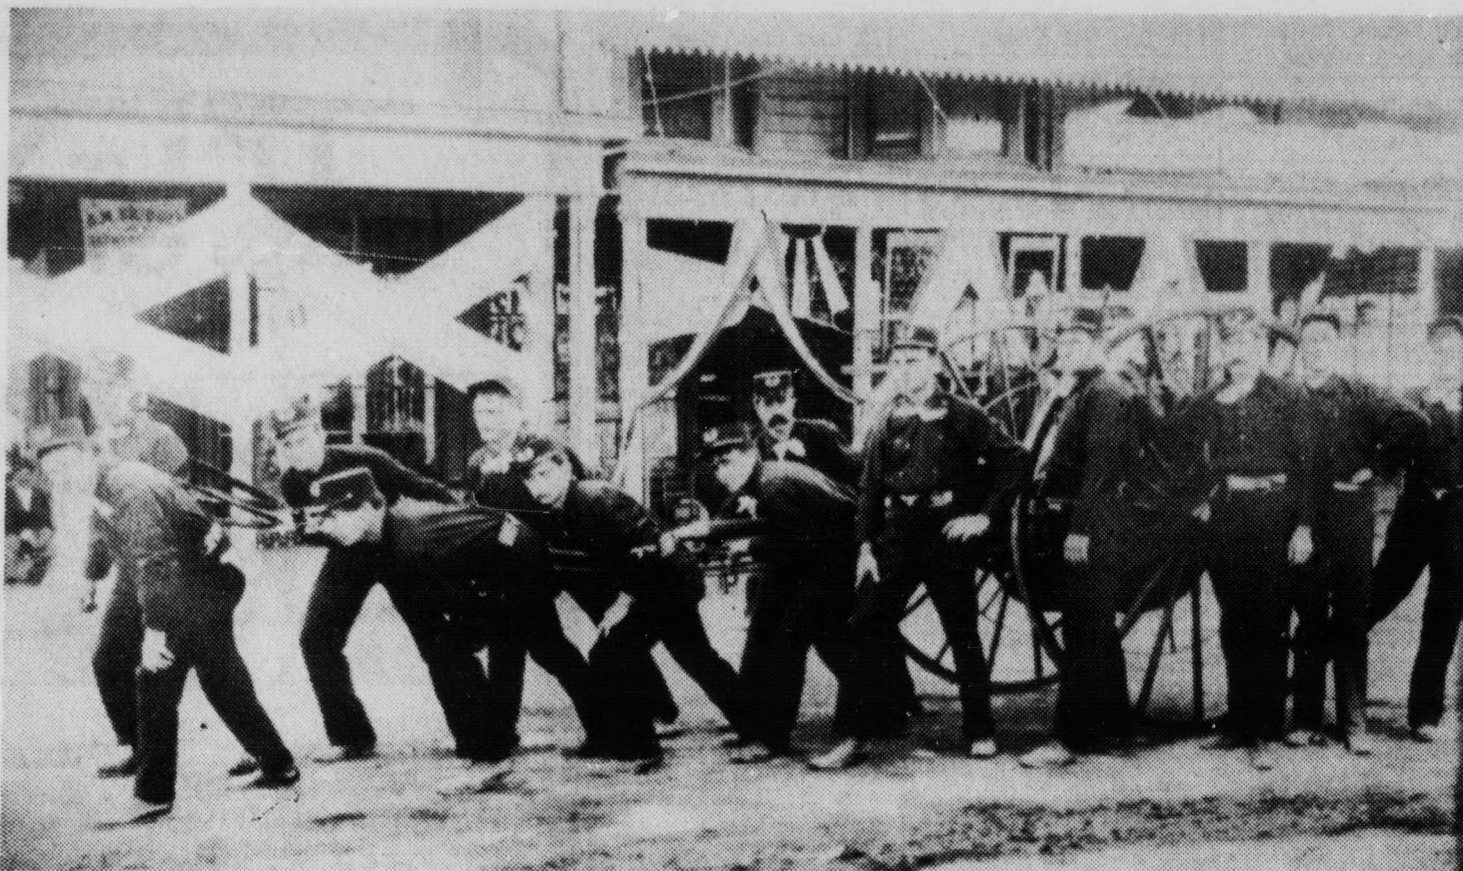

beginning Wednesday and continuing through Saturday, Sept. 20. The Marvers specialize in recycling worn blue jeans into hats, purses, jackets, patchwork shirts, vests and other very attractive items. The idea for recycling jeans occurred to the Marvers when some glassware they purchased was received wrapped in old jeans. The Livermore Jeanery will feature a lot of denim patchwork styles. Store hours are Tuesday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. They are closed on Sunday and Monday.

IF BOB PATTON has anything to say about it, there won't be too many people in these valleys who won't know that "GIVE 'EM HELL, HARRY" opens at the Vine Theatre on Wednesday, September 24. Pictured below are Margaret Truman Daniel and James Whitmore.

who plays Former President Harry S. Truman in the filmed stage play. Local showings will be on a reserved performance basis with a matinee and two evening presentations. Advance ticket sales and reservations can be made during regular box office hours at the Vine Theatre or by calling 447-2546. Whitmore's performance as Truman has been highly praised by everyone who has seen either the play or the film. Margaret, according to reports, was given a private showing and was so impressed she exclaimed, "My God, it's my dad!" Response to the announcement of this special valley engagement has been such that there is no way you will be sitting alone in the theatre like Margaret. It's recommended you make reservations as early as possible to enjoy "GIVE 'EM HELL, HARRY."

Hose carts were drawn by hand in the old days. This photo, which hangs in the main fire station, shows a 1902 contest to determine which team could pull its cart the fastest.

A big step forward in Pleasanton

By 1945, volunteers had abandoned hand-pulled carts for this fleet of fire engines. These engines look ancient now but they were the pride and joy of Pleasanton when they were purchased. The volunteer fire department has gone through many changes since it was organized back in 1888. There were 20 volunteers, twenty leather buckets and a couple of hose carts in those days. The first piece of equipment was purchased in 1919 and the next big jump in fire fighting equipment did not come until 1937. There have been many changes in the department and in equipment since then and the department is almost completely professional with just six volunteers left. The whole story is on page one of today's Times.

Senior bowling league kicks off

LIVERMORE — A new bowling league for senior citizens is kicking off this afternoon. In addition to the existing league, which boasts 50 bowlers, the new league will provide exercise, fun and companionship for dozens more active seniors, 55 and over. Each league member will be eligible to join the Granada Bowl Senior Citizens Club which allows him or her to bowl open play games at 50 cents per game and to participate in bowling tournaments. Anyone interested may show up this afternoon at Granada Bowl (Railroad and P Street) or call Lillian Snorf, Senior Service Director, at her office in the Rec Center (443-1150).

Scholar deadline Oct 31

High school seniors in Pacific Gas & Electric's service area have until Oct. 31 to apply for a four-year college scholarship under PG&E's James B. Black scholarship award program.

This school year, 17 outstanding seniors attending high school in the company's service area will be awarded $1,000 a year for four years at any accredited college or university of their choice in the United States.

In addition, each of 34 runners-up will be presented with a one-time $500 scholarship award.

Application forms and booklets giving full details are available at high schools in the PG&E service area and local PG&E offices.

Thirteen regional scholarships will be awarded on a geographical basis, apportioned among PG&E's operating divisions. Two others are allocated for children of PG&E employees. These 15 scholarships are awarded on the basis of Scholastic Aptitude Test scores and on the applicants' academic and extracurricular activities.

Two Special Recognition Scholarships are also awarded to minority students. Candidates are recommended by high school principals and counselors for having made significant achievements despite economic, environmental or motivational disadvantages. Candidates for these Special Recognition Scholarships are nominated without preliminary examination.

All candidates are interviewed by panels of impartial judges and 51 finalists will be chosen — three for each scholarship. The 17 winners are chosen from among these finalists by other judges meeting in San Francisco.

The Adult School may be reached at 447-6671 during business hours for more information.

Looking for a different way to express yourself? Pull all the skeletons out of the closet and write an autobiography! Carol Markos will teach a class at the Rec Center (Eighth and H Streets), 10-11:50 a.m. beginning Tuesday, Sept. 16, on "Writing Your Autobiography." The class is offered through Chabot College.

Although the class has already met once, it's not too late to sign up. Registration fee is $4, payable at the Adult School office, 3044 East Ave. Loni has a degree in fashion merchandising and business administration and has worked in several large department stores including Joseph Magnin in San Francisco.

Fashion class still open

LIVERMORE — Are long skirts here to stay? How do you wash Indian moccasins? Should I invest in boots this year?

Loni Shriber has the answers — in a class called "Fashion and Fabric Awareness" offered through the Livermore Adult School and open to all Valley residents.

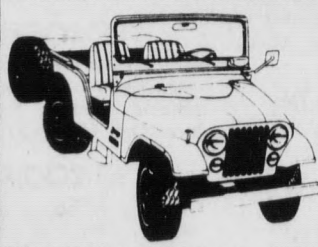

Classes are 7-10 p.m. on Wednesday evenings at Livermore High School. Signups will be accepted through Sept. 24.
